- Getting clients out of jail when others couldn't

Criminal Defense: Protecting Your Freedom and Future

Facing criminal charges can destroy everything you've worked for. Your job, your reputation, your freedom – it's all at risk. Matt McGuire understands that criminal defense isn't just about avoiding jail time; it's about protecting your entire future.

Drug Charges Defense

South Carolina takes drug charges seriously, but so do we. From simple possession to complex trafficking cases, we've successfully defended clients facing all levels of drug charges.

Federal Drug Trafficking Cases

Federal drug charges carry severe mandatory minimum sentences, but they're not unwinnable. We've successfully negotiated deals that kept clients out of federal prison, even in serious trafficking cases.

"Facing federal drug trafficking charges was terrifying. McGuire Law fought for me and negotiated a deal that kept me out of prison." - Marcus T., Richland County, SC

College Drug Possession

A drug conviction can end a student's educational and career dreams before they begin. We understand the unique challenges facing young people and fight to protect their futures.

"I got arrested with drugs in college and Mr. McGuire got the charges dismissed. My future was saved!" - Tyler J., Columbia, SC

A DUI conviction affects more than just your driving record – it can impact your job, insurance rates, and personal reputation. We challenge every aspect of DUI cases, from the initial stop to the breath test results.

Professional License Protection

If you're a nurse, doctor, teacher, or other licensed professional, criminal charges pose a double threat – both criminal penalties and professional license consequences. We understand these unique challenges and fight to protect both your freedom and your career.

"McGuire Law saved my career when I faced drug charges as a nurse. They understood the professional license implications." - Amanda R., Arcadia Lakes, SC

Personal Injury: Fighting for Maximum Compensation

When someone else's negligence leaves you injured, insurance companies immediately start working to minimize their payout. From the moment you call us, we start fighting to maximize yours.

Car Accident Claims

South Carolina's roads can be dangerous, and car accidents happen every day. When they do, insurance companies try to settle quickly for far less than your case is worth. We make sure they pay what you deserve.

"After my car accident, insurance companies tried to lowball me. McGuire Law fought hard and got me ten times more than their initial offer." - Rebecca M., Arcadia Lakes, SC

2. What makes McGuire Law different from the big TV advertising firms? Unlike assembly-line law firms that handle hundreds of cases, we provide personal attention to every client. You'll work directly with Matt McGuire, not a paralegal or junior associate. We focus on winning your case, not generating volume.

3. Do you offer free consultations for all practice areas? Yes, we offer free consultations for criminal defense, personal injury, and family law matters. During this consultation, we'll evaluate your case, explain your options, and provide honest advice about the best path forward.
